

My name is ISAIAH ONGERA MANDI. I was named after my great grandfather's death. I was born in March 15 2003 therefore I am 20 years old, in Bigege, Nyamira county in Kenya. I am born in a family of four where I'm the second born after my sister.

I currently live with my parents at their home stead. My parents are self-employed as they work at our small piece of land practicing mixed farming.

There are many attributes of myself that I admire. I'm a creative, open minded person which helps me where I need to open my brain to see the bigger picture of my life. The attribute that I most admire is my aspiration to solve problems affronting the globe.....which bolstered me to undertake information technology course after completing my form four course. I am not a hardworking, but do this work with as much diligence as I can to get the best results.

I do well around a group of people and I do have excellent social skills, however I find it easier to pay attention to work when am alone.

I am a person who is positive about every aspect of life which make me describe and believe like life is an art and I am the art of my life. There are many things I like to do, to see and to experience. I like to investigate, read, write and do research on things related to technology. Some of my strengths is my calmness, independence, ability not to give up in whatever I'm doing in contempt of challenges and difficulties which come on the way. The intelligence of keeping a smile on my face no matter what I am going through the second best gifts I am proud of.

I enjoy connecting with people and I am open to interesting work offers from clients in INDIA
